PGY1/PGY2/MHA Health-System Pharmacy Administration Residency and Fellowship

The University of Providence School of Health Professions is proud to offer an innovative platform that allows residents in the Providence Southwest Washington combined PGY1/PGY2 program to simultaneously enroll for the MHA degree. The program is designed to take advantage of efficiencies in both the residency and MHA programs.

The program is designed to prepare pharmacists for careers that require expertise in both pharmacy and business theories and principles. The program is directed toward providing didactic and experiential education to MHA students that will allow them to: (1) understand the major administrative functions in organizations delivering pharmaceutical products and care to patients; and (2) design strategies and policies to cope with the evolving health care environment. Supplemental projects will aid in developing administrative, research and analytical skills, in addition to improving the resident's understanding of pharmacy practice and administration in health-systems.
